

Henry® Streamlines Drainage Composite Product Line

Henry is proud to announce the integration of its Drainage Composite product lines with those of Carlisle Coatings & Waterproofing (CCW) under the unified Henry brand. This strategic move offers construction industry professionals a simplified, cohesive product portfolio designed to enhance efficiency and performance on every project.

“The updated Drainage Composite lineup blends legacy products from Henry and CCW, featuring enhancements that improve performance while maintaining the high quality and reliability professionals have come to expect,” said Marc Tropper, Vice President of Commercial Sales. “This consolidation simplifies product selection and offers an integrated approach to drainage solutions, emphasizing durability and ease of installation. Customers will benefit from a single, comprehensive source for high-performance drainage systems, supported by world-class service and warranties.”
