with Henkel Accepted Flashing

What does the 15-Year Limited Warranty Cover?

Henkel Corporation (Henkel), warrants that its OSI® QUAD® Window and Door System for New Construction Applications with Henkel Accepted Flashing (2-Part System) will perform, defined as protecting against the intrusion of water and or moisture between the exterior surface of the window or door frame and the interior surface of the rough opening, for a period of 15 years from the date of original installation:

- When the 2-Part System (OSI® QUAD® Max and OSI® QUAD® Foam) is used to install a window or an exterior door for weatherproofing applications, according to ASTM C1193, in the construction of a new dwelling or addition to an existing structure, in residential and light commercial buildings, and
- if the 2-Part System is installed in exact conformity with Henkel's current product installation guidelines (<https://www.ositough.com/en/install-guides/window-and-door.html>), published data sheets, and the then current installation procedures of the appropriate ASTM and AAMA guidelines, and
- by an installer, certified by Henkel in the use of the 2-Part System (Covered Person), and
- in the fifty (50) United States on or after October 15, 2024.

If the 2-Part System does not perform, Henkel, as its sole liability will reimburse for the reasonable cost of labor and materials to repair and or replace, at actual cash value, property damaged as a direct result of the failure of the 2-Part System, up to the value of $10,000 per dwelling unit or addition. Henkel is not responsible for Henkel accepted flashing.
